Subject: Official Identification Requirements for Dairy Cattle Moving Within California

Effective April 1, 2017, the law requires official identification for the following dairy cattle moving within California.

- Dairy cattle born in California after January 1, 2017, prior to leaving their birth premises
- Dairy cattle on change of ownership
- Exceptions: <http://goo.gl/Ngp92t>.

Dairy cattle must not move or change ownership unless they meet these official identification requirements. Persons found to be in violation of one or both of these requirements will be issued a Notice of Violation.

Sincerely,

Dr. Kent Fowler
Animal Health Branch, Chief

cc: Dr. Annette Jones, California State Veterinarian and Director
Dr. Anita Edmondson, Supervising Veterinarian
