

Extended Equine Certificate of Veterinary Inspection (EECVI) (Owner Information)

The Extended Equine Certificate of Veterinary Inspection (EECVI) is a product by GlobalVetLink (GVL) that can be used for interstate movement instead of a traditional Certificate of Veterinary Inspection (CVI). An EECVI functions as a six (6)-month equine passport/movement document. Horses, mules, donkeys, zebras, or ponies that move frequently between states for show or exhibition purposes may use GVL's EECVI.

Steps for owner to obtain a Health Declaration & Movement Permit (HDMP) using a vet issued EECVI :

For more information about the EECVI, including videos and Q&As, please visit GVL's website:

Please Note :

- Not all states participate in this program. In this case, a traditional CVI must be used. Check GVL's website for a list of participating states.
- The movement permit is only valid for a one (1)-way trip for one (1) animal. Each leg of the trip must be documented by the owner in GVL for each animal unlike a traditional CVI.
- The owner must provide the destination or stable addresses, not mailing addresses.
- The EECVI program should not be used for animals changing ownership.
- Official identification (ID) on the EECVI must be an accepted form of ID in the destination state.
- If a disease outbreak occurs (like Vesicular Stomatitis, for example), restrictions may be in place that prevent owners from obtaining movement permits to affected states.
