PURPOSE

The Beginning Farmer and Farmworker Training and Workforce Development Program (BFFTP) is a new grant program, funded through the 2021 California general fund budget. This program provides support to organizations to enhance or expand beginning farmer and farmworker training/apprenticeship programs. The overall goal of the program is to ensure that resources are dedicated to strengthening support for socially disadvantaged beginning farmers in the first ten years of business, and farmworkers who need job skills training to provide job sustainability. A secondary goal of the program is to build and grow regional networks to ensure organizations can provide adequate support and training opportunities for those most underserved in the agriculture industry.

The program aims to support the following priorities:

- Regional collaborative partnerships to ensure socially disadvantaged beginning farmers and farmworkers have the resources they need to be successful and adapt to changing climate and economic factors in California agriculture.
- Applications from organizations who serve primarily socially disadvantaged farmers.
- The Track 3: Farmworker training and Workforce Development track prioritizes programs that consider the unique cultural and language needs of the farmworker community, and which are in regions with high population of farmworkers.
- Strengthen networking, collaborative planning and overcoming structural barriers such as land access and access to capital and equipment and apprenticeships. The BFFTP is in alignment with the CDFA's California Agricultural Vision (Ag Vision), which serves as a roadmap for California agriculture. The goals of Ag Vision include better health and wellbeing, a healthier planet, ensuring thriving communities in the state, ensuring connections between farmers and the consuming public, and ensuring that a diverse set of agriculture entities are thriving.

The CDFA encourages applications from organizations who serve small to medium sized and socially disadvantaged California ag producers and farmworkers, including but not limited to BIMPOC (Black, Indigenous, Multiracial, and People of Color), LGBTQ+, women and veterans.

FUNDING AND DURATION

Track 1: Program Planning and Curriculum Development Grants

This program provides direct support for existing or new programs to fully develop their programs serving beginning farmers OR farmworker training and workforce development program, establish partnerships, seek accreditation from the California Division of Apprenticeship Standards \(if applicable\), land tenure (either land lease or purchase) and design curriculum. This track is for organizations who would like to formalize or expand the reach of existing programs and need assistance during the phase of program planning or curriculum development. Each applicant organization can apply for a maximum amount of $100,000 in this track. This track also prioritizes programs that are developing local or regional partnerships that will support beginning farmers and farmworkers to be successful. This track aims to prepare organizations to successfully apply for larger grants and build capacity to serve a region's beginning farmers and/or farmworkers through training and workforce development for the agriculture industry.

Track 2: Program Implementation: Beginning Farmer Training Program

The Program Implementation track (beginning farmers) provides support for eligible entities to apply for funds to support a beginning farmer training grant in the amount of up to $1,000,000. The priority for this track will be funding for infrastructure, tool lending libraries, land tenure (either land lease or purchase), regional networking opportunities and apprenticeships (including stipends). Priority will be given to organizations serving socially disadvantaged and small-scale farmers and ranchers and applications with demonstrated partnerships and demonstrated ability to continue the program beyond the funding period.

Track 3: Program Implementation: Farmworker Training and Workforce Development Program

The Program Implementation (farmworker training) track provides support for eligible entities to apply for funds to support development of farmworker training and workforce development program in the amount of up to $1,000,000. There are several priorities within this track.

- 1) Regional collaborations that focus on job skills training, paid apprenticeships, education, and agricultural technology training for farmworkers not currently eligible for Federal Dept of Labor and and/or programs funded through Section 167 of the Workforce Investment Act (WIA) and National Farmworker Jobs Program (NFJP). Organizations currently receiving funding through these programs are eligible to apply for the BFFTP program and will need to demonstrate how BFFTP funding will expand currently programming to focus on agricultural careers and those not currently served through Federal programs.
- 2) Farmworker workforce development programs with curriculum and instruction tailored towards serving the unique cultural and language needs in the farmworker agricultural sector and providing advanced skills training needed to advance to a higher skilled job in the ag sector. Examples of trainings might include new ag technology, ag centered certification programs, training in IPM or organic management practices, irrigation systems or industry-specific skills training such as vineyard management.
- 3) There will be a geographic preference and priority for projects in areas with high concentrations of farmworkers (Central Valley, Coachella Valley, Imperial Valley, Central Coast, Southern California), A secondary priority of this track is programs that target job upskilling for agricultural workers who have lost jobs due to climate change, drought, or other natural disasters.

REVIEW PROCESS

CDFA will conduct two levels of review during the application process. The first level is an administrative review to determine whether grant application requirements are met. The second level is a technical review to evaluate the merits of the grant application based on the detailed scoring criteria outlined below. CDFA will seek external reviewers to assist in scoring and evaluating proposals. An application for external reviewers will be available on the BFFTP website on June 15, 2022.

During the administrative review, the following may result in disqualification of a grant application:

- One or more unanswered questions necessary for the administrative or technical review;
- Missing, blank or unreadable content;
- Requests for more than the maximum award amount;
- Applications that do not comply with Eligibility or meet Program Requirements

Grant applications disqualified as a result of the administrative review may be appealed.

APPEAL RIGHTS: Any discretionary action taken by the Farm Equity Office may be appealed to CDFA's Office of Hearings and Appeals Office within ten (10) calendar days of receiving a notice of disqualification from CDFA. The appeal must be in writing and signed by the responsible party named on the submitted grant application. It must state the grounds for the appeal and include any supporting documents and a copy of the CDFA decision being challenged. The submissions must be sent to the California Department of Food and Agriculture, Office of Hearings and Appeals, 1220 N Street, Sacramento, CA 95814 or emailed to CDFA.LegalOffice@cdfa.ca.gov.
