What You Need to Know to Sell Seed

Federal Seed Act
California Seed Law

Registered Seller vs. Labeler

Determine whether you are a seller or a labeler

A labeler is any person whose name and address appears on the label pertaining to or attached to a lot or container of agricultural or vegetable seed, or both agricultural and vegetable seed, for sale and distribution within the state.

A seller is any person who sells or distributes agricultural and or vegetable seed within the state but whose name and address does not appear on the lot or container of agricultural and or vegetable seed.

Federal Seed Act

- ◆ California maintains a cooperative agreement with the USDA (Agricultural Marketing Services/ Seed Regulatory Testing Division) which authorizes California to inspect seeds and records that are subject to the Federal Seed Act.

California Seed Law

- ◆ Section 52281 of the California Food and Agricultural Code (FAC) provides that the California Seed Law shall be construed to conform, in so much as possible, to the Federal Seed Act and regulations which are issued pursuant to that act.

Registration Requirement

- ◆ Registration Fee: $40.00/year for any person who sells or offers agricultural and/or vegetable seeds for sale in California.
- ◆ Assessment Fee: $0.30 per $100 gross total sale of agricultural, vegetable, and/or grass seeds sold in California from preceding fiscal year
  - Fiscal year begins on July 1 and ends on June 30
  - Paid by labelers

The complaint process requires that a person alleging damage file a written complaint with a fee of $250. The California Department of Food and Agriculture may conduct an investigation of the factors involved in the complaint. Investigative findings are presented to a committee of labelers, growers and agricultural commissioners appointed by the Department. If either disputing party is not satisfied with the committee's report, they may request a mediation. The Department will provide a mediation free of charge. If mediation fails, the Department will note that the seed complaint process has been completed and the parties are free to pursue other legal remedy.

If a consumer does not file a complaint when there is a dispute he or she may be directed by the court to file a complaint with CDFA.

If a labeler fails to notify the buyer of seed of the mandatory seed complaint process, the buyer is not required to participate in the seed complaint process administered by CDFA. The buyer may proceed directly to court for legal remedy.

Plant Variety Protection Act (PVPA)

Certain varieties of plants may only be propagated by the person or firm that developed the variety. This restriction is achieved when the developer requests and receives a plant variety protection certificate. For a PVP certificate to remain valid the holder must notify the buyer of the protected status of the seeds by informing the buyer that unauthorized propagation is prohibited.

Seed Disputes

When agricultural or vegetable seed fails to perform as represented on the label, or as advertised as to kind, kind and variety, purity, and germination, the parties must participate in a mandatory dispute resolution process administered by the California Department of Agriculture when proper notification of the requirement was provided.

- ◆ Two activities that make a seller into a labeler .
  - Over-labeling with a new company name is considered a change to the lot number.
  - Repackaging or conditioning the original contents.

Record Keeping Requirements

Maintenance of proper records is required under the Federal Seed Act (FSA). The “term “complete record” is defined in regulations under the Federal Seed Act. The complete record kept by each person for each lot of seed consists of information pertaining to one’s own transactions and the information received from the other party’s transactions.

A complete record of each lot is required to be kept for 3 years, except that the file sample may be discarded one year after disposal of the entire lot of seed. Records are to be made accessible for inspection so the seed may be traced from the place where it is officially sampled back to the grower if necessary. Records are required but not limited to:

- Receiving Records
- Variety/Origin & Grower’s Declaration
- Processing/Handling
- Conditioning/Blending
- Test Records
- File Sample
- Labeling Records
- Sales and Shipping/Disposition Records
- Correspondence

Agriculture Marketing Services (AMS)

The Federal Seed Act (FSA) requires interstate shippers to include their name and address on the seed label. As an alternative, the FSA permits interstate shippers to put their customer's name and address on the label, provided they have permission and the label contains the interstate shipper's code designation. The use of this code allows the interstate shipper to label the seed with their customers name and address for resale and still be identified as the interstate shipper as required by the FSA.
